

U. S. FACES DIFFICULTY OF SERIOUS PROPORTIONS IN TREATIES WITH 23 NATIONS

Compulsory Arbitration Principle Making Trouble, as in Panama Canal Tolls Act, for State Dept.

WASHINGTON, June 6. The principle of compulsory arbitration written into the code that has bound the United States with 24 great and lesser nations of the world for the past five years is in serious danger and unless there is a decided change in sentiment in the senate, the renewal of 23 of the treaties which gave concrete evidence of this nation's belief in such a policy may be impossible. In executive session tonight the senate again failed to ratify renewals of the arbitration agreements with Great Britain, Italy and Spain which recently expired. These conventions provide that questions relating to the interpretation of treaties, excepting those that cannot be settled through diplomatic channels or those of vital interest, national honor or independence shall be submitted to The Hague.

The main argument tonight arose over the contention that if the treaty with Great Britain is ratified the Panama canal tolls question would have to be submitted to The Hague, but during the discussion the Japanese question, the general attitude of the nation toward compulsory arbitration, was brought up, and led to the expression of views utterly at variance with entrance into such binding agreements in the future.

A motion to refer the three treaties to the foreign relations committee, with instructions that the one with Great Britain be modified so as to exempt specifically the Panama canal tolls question, was abandoned, but prolonged debate was predicted for future sessions. Some senators showed a disposition to criticize the making of compulsory arbitration agreements, even if they bound only in cases which do not affect vital interest, national honor or independence.

Too Many English Sympathizers.
One senator went so far as to declare:

"There are many people in the United States and in the senate who ought to live in England."
Senators who did not speak, but who discussed arbitration with their colleagues during the debate, expressed decided opinions on the extent to which this nation has bound itself to argue matters out before a court. This attitude was condemned as one which was becoming misunderstood throughout the world and one which appeared to be the country's disadvantage in the Mexican problem, in the dispute with Great Britain and in the more recent controversy with Japan.

Hard Fight Expected.
Many senators were convinced tonight that few of the 23 agreements which came up for renewal in the next few months will be agreed to without a hard fight. Although the treaties probably have many supporters, Chairman Bacon of the foreign relations committee was about the only one who spoke in their behalf.

In spite of his endorsement of arbitration, Mr. Bacon held the view that under the British treaty the tolls question must be arbitrated, and expressed entire sympathy with the California land legislation to which Japan has taken exception.
Senator Chamberlain was the only member to object to the British treaty yesterday when it first came up before the senate with the approval of the foreign relations committee, but tonight's session there were nine senators behind him who in one way or another expressed the same view.

CLUBMEN PLAY BALL FOR CHARITY'S SAKE

Come to Washburn Field This Afternoon and See the El Paso and Golf Aggregations

All roads, oiled streets and asphalt lanes will lead to Washburn field today for the biggest event of its kind ever staged in that arena—the widely-heralded baseball game between the expert pastimers selected from the El Paso and Colorado Springs Golf clubs.

Club men have played baseball here in after years, but no club at any time ever put on such a real, up-to-the-minute aggregation of athletic stars who will appear in the ball yard this afternoon promptly at 2:30 o'clock for the preliminary warming-up process. The game proper will begin at 3 o'clock, with Rush L. Holland, Cleveland, at bat, and an authority on rules and baseball etiquette, naming the indicator and calling them either safe or out on the bases.

Starting on practically nothing a short time ago a little more than an imitation ball game between the rival clubs, the proceeds to be devoted to the children's ward conducted at Beth-El hospital by the Visiting Nurse association, today's contest has boomed along until now everybody in town is talking about it. For a week past it has been discussed at the clubs, at pink teas, receptions, dances, in stores, offices and on the streets—everywhere, in fact, that conversation is not a lost art. Society will be at the game in numbers, and the free list will be suspended, for every nickel that is taken in, and a lot more besides, will go right to Beth-El hospital to help all the little kiddies whose lot in life thus far has been pretty much all shadows.

Midland Band Will Play.

A. C. Sweet, the new leader of the Colorado Midland band, got here from New Jersey just in time to get into the game himself. Sweet will not play ball, but he is going to do his share to keep the ball rolling by having the complete Midland band out on the streets before the game, and then he and his musicians will go to Washburn field and keep things moving during the progress of the contest. The famous Midland band hasn't made its formal bow this spring, the concert season not beginning until tomorrow, but this fact didn't make any difference with the new director and

THREE COLLEGE EVENTS ARE SCHEDULED TODAY

The rain yesterday afternoon prevented the presentation of the senior class play, Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," which was to have opened the commencement week exercises at Colorado college, and the Sweet Oratorical contest in Perkins hall last night was the only event of the day that could be carried through. The senior play, however, will be given in the college park at 8 o'clock this evening, and at that time the date for the postponed afternoon performance will be decided.

Today's events will begin with the breakfast of the Minerva society at the Acadia hotel at 9 o'clock this morning. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the school of music will give a recital in Bemis hall, and this will be followed by the senior play in the evening. The program follows:

ADMIT MISTAKES ARE MADE

West Realizes Wisdom in Preventing Waste and Grabbing of Land

SALT LAKE CITY, June 6.—To the addresses of the governors present, the second day's conference of the western governors was given over entirely today. Between sessions the governors visited the tabernacle and then went to the state penitentiary, where luncheon was served, while a prison lunch was rendered patriotic music.

Each governor made suggestions which he hoped, if put into practice, would benefit his state and the west generally. In the national reclamation service Governor Ogden of Nevada saw the wise and fruitful departure in government enterprise. Governor Stewart of Montana, who arrived here just in time for the afternoon session, pleaded for a more efficient forest ranger service. Governor Carey of Wyoming gave a history of what the Carey act has done for the west. Governor Spry of Utah, declared that men acquainted with the west should be placed in charge of western reclamation work, while Governor Ammons of Colorado insisted that the states should be given control of the public domain.

Governor Oddie, favors it. "With respect to the work of the national reclamation work in the west, I think that western people who have come in touch with it, and realize its prodigious importance in national up-building, feel that it has proven a wise and fruitful departure in governmental enterprise," said Governor Oddie.

"After due allowance for the inevitable mistakes incident to the initiation of a work of this character, and magnitude, and taking into consideration the fact that 10 or 20 years must elapse before the full measure of its fruits will be evidenced, there seems to be no legitimate ground for contention that the policy of the national reclamation is a failure."

"The land which will be reclaimed under existing national reclamation projects is in excess of 3,000,000 acres, sufficient for 50,000,000 families. The cost of which may reach $150,000,000. It is a loan to the west which the west will repay."

Decreases Payments.
"There is one feature in the disposal of land which I think could be beneficially modified. If the settlers' payments were made in cash, for the first three years, thereafter increasing as he is able to derive increasing income, there would occur less hardships and fewer failures to make good on the part of entrymen."

Lieutenant Governor Fitzgerald of Colorado, who is president of the Public Domain Development association, made a plea for the organization of branches of the association in each state for the purpose of obtaining state control of the public domain as far as possible.

This was followed by a short business meeting, and then the entertainment was composed of Miss Lillian Johnson, Mrs. F. H. Loud, Dr. R. R. Gillett, Mrs. E. B. Simmons and Floyd McCammon.

AMERICANS DEMAND PROTECTION OF GOV'T

Claim They Have Reached the Limit of Endurance and Will Fight Alone

TAMPAICO, Mex., June 6.—Three hundred Americans located in southern Tamaulipas representing 68 families have demanded in a long message to President Wilson, sent through Consul Miller here, to know "once for all" whether they can expect protection from their home government since they "do not desire to take measures for our own safety which would embarrass our government without giving due notice beforehand."

The message of the Americans was transmitted by wireless through Consul Miller to W. W. Canada, the American consul at Vera Cruz, to be forwarded to Washington. It says in part:

"Having been left without any protection whatever on the part of both sides of the present controversy, therefore we can only look for protection from our own country. We must know once for all if we can expect the same. Having been subjected to slights and a great variety of indignities and gross abuse in the last few days, the situation calls for more serious preparations for our personal safety and the defense of our families and our interests. Therefore we have assembled to consider the best way. We consider protection necessary now since after death it will be of no use."

The message declares in addition, that the petitioners have borne financial loss recently, but most of them cannot obey the advice of "get away from danger" for their departure would mean the abandonment of the accumulations of a lifetime.

"We consider the lives of ourselves and families in danger and the situation has justified this petition several times in the last few days."
It is no longer doubtful that the slightest spark will bring on the dread conflagration at any moment. In many instances the small arms sent American citizens by the American government for their protection have been demanded and in some instances they have been taken.

LIGHTNING HITS DENVER; MAN KILLED AND LIGHTS PUT OUT OF COMMISSION

DENVER, June 6.—Lightning whipped into the city hall here this afternoon, destroyed a rubber plant and severely shocked Mrs. Zaida Sherman, license clerk, seated five feet distant.

A bolt struck a grass loaded wagon at Exposition and South Gaylord streets, instantly killing the man and the horse and setting fire to the load of grass.

The electrical, rain and hail storm which swept over Denver today extended along the eastern slope as far south as Las Vegas in New Mexico.

Here it was the most violent in 15 years. Within a few minutes the local lighting company reported 1,800 calls for repairs, while traffic was suspended on several tramway lines.

Due to the blowing out of fuse boxes, downtown business houses did business generally by candle light.

In the outlying districts and parks many trees were stripped by hailstones and greenhouses were ruined.

JAP NOTE PUZZLE FOR BEST HEADS IN STATE DEPT'

Claims Against Alien Law Hard For U. S. Legal Lights to Rebut

ORIENTAL DIPLOMATS PUT UP STRONG CASE

Claims Against Alien Law Hard For U. S. Legal Lights to Rebut

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Japan's latest note in regard to the California land legislation, admittedly furnishing problems calculated to tax the talents of the American negotiators, was read at the cabinet meeting today and later was the subject of a conference between President Wilson and John Bass Moore, counselor of the state department.

Consideration of the note by the cabinet was deferred until the return of Secretary Bryan, who left early in the afternoon for Pittsburgh to attend a farewell dinner in honor of the new ambassador to Japan from the United States, George W. Gilchrist.

There was some discussion, however, after the long document had been read, and President Wilson, as a result of his talk with Ambassador Gilchrist yesterday, was able to illuminate the formal arguments, presented with side lights disclosing internal political conditions in Japan which are affecting the Japanese office, particularly in the conduct of the negotiations.

Press dispatches from Tokyo, outlining the contents of the Japanese note, were received with great interest here.

Officials who have examined into the subject have reached the conclusion that the Japanese foreign office has shown a remarkable knowledge of American constitutional law, and that the legal rights of the state department will be taxed to the utmost to rebut the arguments presented.

The assertion that the California law violates the spirit of the existing treaty by discriminating against the Japanese, however, is looked upon as a slight retreat from the original broad statement that the treaty had been directly violated.

Touching the point that the right of Japanese to own or lease houses carries with it the right of ownership of the lands, it is contended here that this is true only as to houses occupied as residences or for commercial purposes, and such a claim scarcely to be extended to farm lands, which alone are covered by the California law. Officials say the suggestion that the alien land legislation is in violation of the fourteenth amendment of the constitution, may furnish a new line of attack upon that much discussed amendment, although it would hardly be seriously entertained by any court.

They pointed out that the California act appointed "one process of law" for depriving aliens of property and suggested that the words "equal protection of the laws" used in the amendment referred to persons and not property.

FATHER CLARKE TO TAKE CHARGE LORETTA HEIGHTS

The Rev. Edward Clarke, who has been chairman of Gloucester sanatorium for the last 10 years, will take charge of Loretta Heights academy, a few miles south of Denver, to succeed the Rev. Richard Brady. Father Brady will fill the vacancy in the parish of the Annunciation, Denver, caused by the death of Mr. Henry Robinson. Father Clarke is prominent in the affairs of the Knights of Columbus in Colorado, and is past state chaplain of the order.

"PRESIDENT WILSON IS A LOBBY IN HIMSELF AND EXERTS UNDUE POWER FORCING THROUGH BILLS ---Senator Townsend

Sensational Charges That May Be Probed Made in Congressional Investigation—Democrats Deny Any Personal Attention of Chief Executive

WASHINGTON, June 6.—An unexpected turn was given today when Senator Townsend of Michigan, Republican, declared on the stand that the influence wielded by President Wilson and by the Democratic secret caucus upon the making of the tariff bill, constituted the "nearest approach to undue influence on members of congress" that the investigating committee would be able to find.

Senator Townsend criticized the committee for not having asked members of the senate whether the president had sought to influence them and declared that even though the president had not intended it, his recent denunciation of "lobbies" working in support of changes in the tariff would force certain senators to vote against amendments they knew to be just.

"Who are those senators?" demanded Senator Reed.

"I don't care to name any one," returned Townsend.

All Colorado Committee, Representing Springs, Pueblo and Denver, Formed TO WORK FOR WHOLE STATE

Officers Elected—Denver Will Aid in Novel Way—All Sessions Here

Work for the development of Colorado by bringing all the different sections of the state into perfect harmony, instead of cross purposes, with each other, is to be the policy of the new "All-Colorado Committee," the organization into which the committees from Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Denver formed themselves at a meeting at the Antlers hotel yesterday. The committee will not, according to the decision reached yesterday, inaugurate any extensive publicity or money raising campaigns. It will take up questions affecting the whole state, however, and not confine itself solely to the interests of the three cities.

To start the work, and as an evidence of Denver's good faith in the whole proceeding, the Denver branch of the committee has arranged for as much of the dead space on the Denver billboards as they want to use in this work. This announcement was made last night by George W. Martin, general agent of the Rock Island railroad, who was elected permanent chairman of the committee. The situation was explained to James A. Curran, manager in Denver for the Cusack company, and he at once offered to donate the dead space on more than 600 billboards to help further the work. The Smith-Brooks Printing company of Denver will donate all the posters necessary.

Secretaries to Select Matter.
The secretaries of the chambers of commerce of Denver and Colorado Springs, and of the Pueblo Commerce club, will decide what is to go on these billboards, but as the posters are to be displayed in Denver, none of the material will be about Denver. The three secretaries will consider the matter and will provide such reading matter for the posters as to bring the best possible results in advertising Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Trinidad, Canon City, Glenwood Springs, Grand Junction, Fort Collins, Greeley and all the other important Colorado towns and localities. The posters also will advertise the agricultural, horticultural, manufacturing and mining resources of the state. Similar advertising matter will be placed in many important display windows in Denver, and one page in each theater program in all the Denver theaters will be used in this work.

Martin last night characterized the formation of the All-Colorado committee as the biggest move that has been made in this state in a long time.

He said:

"Counting the large number of delegates to the two important meetings—those of the Knights Templar and the Turners—together with the regular summer tourist travel, we will have perhaps double the number of people in Colorado this season than we ever had in the state in a similar period before. It is the intention of the All-Colorado committee to do all it can to help to promote such working arrangements between the three cities and the state as will enable us all to take advantage of the opportunity offered to Colorado in the great number of people who will

GIVES TALK ON BIRDS

Dr. W. W. Arnold, the bird expert, gave an interesting talk on the feathered family at the Garfield school yesterday afternoon. About 500 children were attentive auditors. Dr. Arnold cited an object lesson from the screech owl, and also took a crippled black-headed grosbeak to the school from his bird hospital to point a lesson on cruelty to birds. The grosbeak had been shot and Dr. Arnold had amputated its leg, and it is now apparently as happy as ever, though forced to hop about on one foot. Dr. Arnold pointed out the usefulness of birds to mankind, and gave many reasons why they should be protected.

CAMP DELWOOD NEWS

The arrangements for Camp Delwood are complete, and Monday morning the largest "merriest" and best-organized bunch of boys will leave the city that have ever gone on a camp from Colorado Springs. There are between 50 and 55 fellows, and every fellow going with the idea of not only having the best time possible, but also giving the other fellow the finest kind of a time. There has been busy work for the last week in the boys' department for the final arrangements and the leadership of the camp is very much gratified with the results.

There will be six large tents in the camp, each under a leader and an assistant. As little matters may come up at any time, a camp council will be appointed to settle differences. Dr. Chesmore has prepared for all the little accidents which it is possible to run into in camp, and everything is in readiness for a great time.

The postoffice address of the boys is Camp Delwood, West Creek, Colo.

The Colorado banks mentioned in the report from Washington follow: American National, Alamosa; First National, Cripple Creek; Denver National and Federal National, Denver; Morgan County National, Fort Morgan; First National, Greeley; First National, La Junta; Mercantile National, Pueblo; and Logan County National, Sterling.

BANKS BUY SCHOOL BONDS

School bonds of $125,000, part of those voted last fall, and which are being used for the construction of the new high school buildings, have been disposed of to bankers belonging to the Colorado Springs Clearing House Association. The bonds were distributed equally among the local banks. They were sold for par and will bring 5 per cent interest. They are 20-year paper.

BISHOP THOMAS AT GRACE CHURCH SUNDAY

Next Sunday an unusual opportunity will be afforded Grace church parish to hear one of the ablest bishops of the church. The Rev. Nathaniel S. Thomas, D. D., bishop of Wyoming, will preach at both services. Bishop Thomas came to Wyoming five years ago, after having served for several years as rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles, Philadelphia. He has done excellent work in his new field and has already made a place for himself as a leader of thought and action in Wyoming.

WILL BUILD CONDENSED MILK FACTORY AT LAMAR

Reports have been received in this city of the signing of a contract by the Helvetia Milk Condensing company of Highland, Ill., to establish a factory at Lamar, Colo. The factory will be the ninth belonging to the company, and will be the biggest factory of any kind that has ever been secured for the A-tanasas valley. While no local people have a direct financial interest in the establishing of the factory, the announcement has attracted some attention here.

The new factory at Lamar, it is estimated, means a milk payroll of more than $1,000 a day in that section, and a labor payroll of nearly half that amount.

OLD SCHOOL PROPERTY STILL LACKS PURCHASER

Probably because of a building restriction in the terms of the original purchase, to the effect that no building costing less than $2,500 can be placed upon the property, the school board of the Cheyenne school district has been unable to sell the old Cheyenne school and the property surrounding it, although it was offered at public auction last Monday. No bid for the building was made at the auction, and the school board is out $25 or more, which it paid out for the advertisement of the sale and for the auctioneer's fee. The property is still on the market, as it is the sentiment of the community around the Cheyenne school that something be realized on the property where the old school stood.

How to Make CALUMET Biscuit

To see how delightful baking can be, get a can of Calumet Baking Powder and try this delicious recipe:

- Calumet Biscuit:
- 1 heaping teaspoonful Calumet Baking Powder,
- 1 level teaspoon of salt,
- 2 rounded tablespoons butter or lard,
- 3/4 cup of milk,
- 1/2 cup of water.

Sift flour once, then measure, add salt and baking powder and sift three times, rub shortening in with fork or spoon, add milk and water, turn out on a well floured board and roll one inch thick, cut and bake in a quick oven about twelve to fifteen minutes.

And then when they come piping hot from the oven, light and fluffy and wholesome—butter and taste.

That's the Calumet test—always. Everything baked with Calumet must be as good—or a little better—than bakings made with other brands.

Calumet is moderate in price—economical in use. Your grocer knows—ask him.

U. S. FACES DIFFICULTY OF SERIOUS PROPORTIONS IN TREATIES WITH 23 NATIONS

Compulsory Arbitration Provisions Making Trouble, as in Panama Canal Tolls Act, for State Dept.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The principle of compulsory arbitration written into the code that has bound the United States with 24 great and lesser nations of the world for the last five years is in serious danger and unless there is a decided change in sentiment in the senate, the renewal of 23 of the treaties which gave concrete evidence of this nation's belief in such a policy may be impossible. In executive session tonight the senate again failed to ratify renewals of the arbitration agreements with Great Britain, Italy and Spain which recently expired. These conventions provide that questions relating to the interpretation of treaties, excepting those that cannot be settled through diplomatic channels or those of vital interest, national honor or independence shall be submitted to The Hague.

The main argument tonight arose over the contention that if the treaty with Great Britain is ratified, the Panama canal tolls question would have to be submitted to The Hague. During the discussion the Japanese question, the general attitude of the nation toward compulsory arbitration was brought up, and led to the expression of views utterly at variance with entrance into such binding agreements in the future.

A motion to refer the three treaties to the foreign relations committee, with instructions that the one with Great Britain be modified so as to exempt specifically the Panama canal tolls question, was abandoned, but prolonged debate was predicted for future sessions. Some senators showed a disposition to criticize the making of compulsory arbitration agreements even if they bound only in cases which do not affect vital interest, national honor or independence.

Too Many English Sympathizers.

One senator went so far as to declare:

"There are many people in the United States and in the senate who ought to live in England. . . . Senators who did not speak, but who discussed arbitration with their colleagues during the debate, expressed decided opinions on the extent to which this nation has bound itself to make matters out before a court. This attitude was condemned as one which was becoming misunderstood through out the world and one which appeared to the country's disadvantage in the Mexican problem, in the dispute with Great Britain and in the more recent controversy with Japan.

Hard Fight Expected.

Many senators were convinced tonight that few of the 23 agreements which came up for renewal in the next few months will be agreed to without a hard fight. Although the treaties probably have many supporters, Chairman Bacon of the foreign relations committee was about the only one who spoke in their behalf. In spite of his endorsement of arbitration, Mr. Bacon held the view that under the British treaty the tolls question must be arbitrated, and expressed entire sympathy with the California land legislation to which Japan has taken exception.

Senator Chamberlain was the only member to object to the British treaty yesterday when it first came up before the senate with the approval of the foreign relations committee, but a tonight's session there were nine senators behind him who in one way or another expressed the same view.

CLUBMEN PLAY BALL FOR CHARITY'S SAKE

Come to Washburn Field This Afternoon and See the El Paso and Golf Aggregations

All roads, oiled streets and asphalt lanes will lead to Washburn field today for the biggest event of its kind ever staged in that arena—the widely-heralded baseball game between the expert pastimers selected from the El Paso and Colorado Springs Golf clubs.

Club men have played baseball here in a few years, but no club at any time ever put on such a real up-to-the-minute aggregation of athletic stars who will appear in the ball yard this afternoon promptly at 2:30 o'clock for the preliminary warm-up process. The game proper will begin at 3 o'clock, with Rush L. Holland, eleven-year-old of all the diplomats and an authority on rules and baseball etiquette, handling the indicator and calling them either safe or out on the bases.

Starting on practically nothing a short time ago as little more than an imitation ball game between the rival clubs, the proceeds to be devoted to the children's ward conducted at Beth-El hospital by the Visiting Nurse association, today's contest has become along with now every body in town is talking about it. For a week past it has been discussed at the clubs, at pink teas, receptions, dances, in stores, offices and on the streets—everywhere, in fact, that con-

THREE COLLEGE EVENTS ARE SCHEDULED TODAY

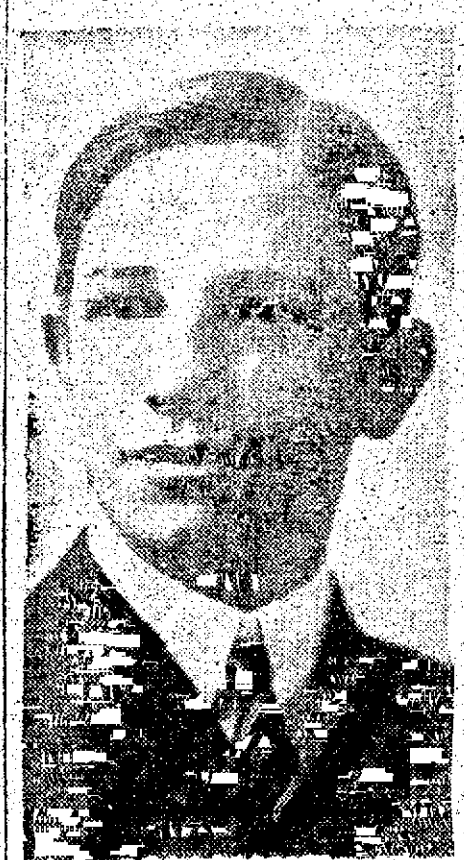

The rain yesterday afternoon prevented the presentation of the senior class play, Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," which was to have opened the commencement week exercises at Colorado college, and the Sweet Oratorical contest in Perkins hall last night was the only event of the day that could be carried through. The senior play, however, will be given in the college park at 8 o'clock this evening, and at that time the date for the postponed afternoon performance will be decided.

Today's events will begin with the breakfast of the Minerva society at the Acadia hotel at 9 o'clock this morning. At 9 o'clock this afternoon the school of music will give a recital in Bemis hall, and this will be followed by the senior play in the evening. The program follows:

LLOYD SHAW PRESIDENT H. S. ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Lloyd Shaw, a graduate of Colorado Springs high school with the class of 1909, and now a member of the senior class at Colorado college, last night was elected president of the High School Alumni association for the ensuing year. The other officers elected are:

LLOYD SHAW

Wilfred Auld, first vice president, Miss Olive Dukes, second vice president; Mrs. Glen Blake, secretary; Grant Wilson, treasurer, and Miss Leona Thatcher, Mrs. Glen Van Tilburg (formerly Miss Elsie Whitmarsh) and Bruce A. Gustin, directors. The election was held at the annual reception at the Antlers hotel.

The reception last night was one of the most successful the association has ever given. The feature of the evening was a play, "Nance Oldfield," given by Miss Evelyn Lewis, Miss Clara Cheedy, Lloyd Shaw, Charles Emery and Frederick Morath. This was followed by a short business meeting, and then by dancing. The reception committee for the entertainment was composed of Miss Lillian Johnson, Mrs. F. H. Loud, Mr. C. R. Gillett, Mrs. E. B. West Realizes Wisdom in Preventing Waste and Grabbing of Land

SALT LAKE CITY, June 6.—To the addresses of the governors present, the second day's conference of the Western governors was given over entirely today. Between sessions the governors visited the tabernacle and then went to the state penitentiary, where luncheon was served, while a prison band rendered patriotic music.

Each governor made suggestions which he hoped, if put into practice, would benefit his state and the west generally. In the national reclamation service, Governor Oddie of Nevada said was a fruitful departure in government enterprise. Governor Stewart of Montana, who arrived here just in time for the afternoon session, pleaded for a more efficient forest ranger service. Governor Carey of Wyoming gave a history of what the Carey act has done for the west. Governor Spry of Utah, declared that men acquainted with the west should be placed in charge of western reclamation work, while Governor Ammons of Colorado insisted that the states should be given control of the public domain.

Governor Oddie favors it. "With respect to the work of the national reclamation work in the west, I think that western people who have come in touch with it and realize its prodigious importance in national upbuilding, feel that it has proven a wise and fruitful departure in governmental enterprise," said Governor Oddie.

"After due allowance for the inevitable mistakes incident to the initiation of a work of this character, and magnitude, and taking into consideration the fact that 10 or 20 years must elapse before the full measure of its fruits will be evidenced, there seems to be the legitimate ground for contention that the policy of the national reclamation is a failure."

"The land which will be reclaimed under existing national reclamation projects is in excess of 3,000,000 acres, sufficient for 50,000,000 families, the cost of which may reach $350,000,000. It is a loan to the west which the west will repay."

Decreases Payments.

"There is one feature in the disposal of land which I think could be beneficially modified. If the settlers' payments were made over a longer period of time, say three years, the interest would be less, and the debt would be less, and there would be fewer failures to make good on the part of the settler."

Lieutenant Governor Fitzgerald of Colorado, who is president of the Public Domain Development association, made a plea for the organization of branches of the association in each state for the purpose of obtaining state control of the public domain as far as possible.

"There is a great association in (Continued on Page Two).

A. P. GUMBLICK PRESIDENT MASTER PLUMBERS ASSN.

A. P. Gumblick of Denver yesterday was elected president of the Rocky Mountain Master Plumbers association at the close of the sixteenth annual convention of that organization held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Burns building. P. S. Cook of Cheyenne, Wyo., was elected vice president, John F. Wallace of Denver, treasurer, and H. R. Wister of Colorado Springs, sergeant-at-arms. The secretary of the organization is to be appointed by the president, and the members of Denver who now hold that position, probably will be reappointed.

The association also chose at the meeting yesterday its delegates to the convention of the National Master Plumbers association, which meets in Philadelphia, June 17, 18 and 19. The delegates are: A. P. Gumblick of Denver, J. C. St. John and N. W. Hise of Colorado Springs, and L. Rees of Pueblo. Alternates also were chosen as follows: P. S. Cook of Cheyenne, Wyo.; A. C. Hill of Walsenburg, James English of Pueblo, and Charles Pearson of Colorado Springs.

AMERICANS DEMAND PROTECTION OF GOV'T

Claim They Have Reached the Limit of Endurance and Will Fight Alone

TAMPA, Fla., June 6.—Three hundred Americans located in southern Tamalipas representing 48 families have demanded in a joint message to President Wilson, sent through Consul Miller here, to know and for all whether they can expect protection from their home government since they do not desire to take measures for their own safety which would embarrass our government without giving due notice beforehand.

The message of the Americans was transmitted by wireless through Consul Miller to W. W. Canabie, the American consul at Vera Cruz, to be forwarded to Washington. It says in part: "Having been left without any protection whatever on the part of both sides of the present controversy, therefore we can only look for protection from our own country. We must know once for all if we can expect the same. Having been subjected to slights and a great variety of indignities and gross abuse in the last few days, the situation calls for more serious preparations for our personal safety and the defense of our families and our interests. Therefore we have assembled to consider the best way. We consider protection necessary now since after death it will be of no use."

The message declares, in addition, that the petitioners have borne financial loss recently, but most of them cannot rely on the advice of "get away from danger" for their departure would mean the abandonment of the accumulations of a lifetime.

"We consider the lives of ourselves and families in danger and the situation has justified this petition several times in the last few days. . . . It is no longer doubtful that the slightest spark will bring on the dread conflagration of any moment. In many instances the small arms sent American citizens by the American government for their protection have been demanded and in some instances they have been taken."

LIGHTNING HITS DENVER; MAN KILLED AND LIGHTS PUT OUT OF COMMISSION

DENVER, June 6.—Lightning whirled into the city hall here this afternoon, destroyed a rubber plant and severely shocked Mrs. Zella Sherman, license clerk, seated five feet distant.

A bolt struck a grass loaded wagon at Exposition and South Gaylord streets, instantly killing the man and the horse and setting fire to the load of grass.

The electrical, rain and hail storm which swept over Denver today extended along the eastern slope as far south as Las Vegas in New Mexico. Here it was the most violent in 15 years.

Within a few minutes the local lighting company reported 1,500 calls for repairs, while traffic was suspended on several tramway lines. Owing to the blowing out of fuse boxes, downtown business houses did business generally by candle light. In the outlying districts and parks many trees were stripped by hailstones and greenhouses were ruined.

JAP NOTE PUZZLE FOR BEST HEADS IN STATE DEPT

Claims Against Alien Law Hard For U. S. Legal Lights to Rebut

ORIENTAL DIPLOMATS PUT UP STRONG CASE

Claims Against Alien Law Hard For U. S. Legal Lights to Rebut

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Japan's latest note in regard to the California land legislation, admittedly furnishing problems calculated to tax the talents of the American negotiators, was read at the cabinet meeting today and later was the subject of a conference between President Wilson and John Bassett Moore, counselor of the state department.

Consideration of the note by the cabinet was deferred until the return of Secretary Bryan, who left early in the afternoon for Pittsburgh to attend a farewell dinner in honor of the new ambassador to Japan from the United States, George W. Garfield.

There was some discussion, however, after the note had been read, and President Wilson, as a result of his talk with Ambassador Chinda yesterday, was able to illuminate the formal arguments presented with side-lights disclosing internal political conditions in Japan which are affecting the Japanese attitude generally in the conduct of the negotiations.

Press dispatches from Tokyo, outlining the contents of the Japanese note, were received with great interest here.

Officials who have examined into the subject have reached the conclusion that the Japanese foreign office has shown a remarkable knowledge of American constitutional law, and that the legal lights of the state department will be taxed to the utmost to rebut the arguments presented.

The assertion that the California law violates the spirit of the existing treaty by discriminating against the Japanese, however, is looked upon as a slight retreat from the original broad statement that the treaty had been directly violated.

"Touching the point that the right of Japanese to own or lease houses carries with it the right of ownership of the lands, it is contended here, that this is true only as to houses occupied as residences or for commercial purposes, and such a claim scarcely to be extended to farm lands, which alone are covered by the California law. Officially the suggestion that the alleged land legislation is in violation of the treaty is a new development of the constitution may furnish a new line of attack upon that much-discussed arrangement, although it would hardly be seriously entertained by any court."

They pointed out that the California act appointed "due process of law" for depriving aliens of property, and suggested that the words "equal protection of the laws" used in the amendment referred to persons and not property.

FATHER CLARKE TO TAKE CHARGE LORETTA HEIGHTS

The Rev. Edward Clarke, who has been chaplain of Glendon sanatorium for the last 10 years, will take charge of Loretta Heights academy, a few miles south of Denver, to succeed the Rev. Richard Brady. Father Brady will fill the vacancy in the parish of the Annunciation, Denver, caused by the death of Merit Henry Robinson.

Father Clarke is prominent in the affairs of the Knights of Columbus in Colorado, and is past state chaplain of the order.

"PRESIDENT WILSON IS A LOBBY IN HIMSELF AND EXERTS UNDUE POWER FORCING THROUGH BILLS"

---Senator Townsend

Sensational Charges That May Be Probed Made in Congressional Investigation—Democrats Deny Any Personal Attention of Chief Executive

WASHINGTON, June 6.—An unexpected turn was given the senate's investigation late today when Senator Townsend of Michigan, Republican, declared on the stand that the influence wielded by President Wilson and by the Democratic secretaries upon the making of the tariff bill, constituted the "nearest approach to undue influence on members of congress" that the investigating committee would be able to find.

Senator Townsend criticized the committee for not having asked members of the senate whether the president had sought to influence them and declared that even though the president had not intended it, his recent denunciation of "lobbies" working in support of changes in the tariff would force certain senators to vote against amendments they knew to be just.

"Who are those senators?" demanded Senator Reed.

"I don't care to name any one," returned Townsend.

The two Democratic members of the committee present, Senators Reed and Walsh, indignantly resented any intimation that President Wilson had used patronage or threats to force anyone to support free sugar or free wool or to support tobacco as a whole.

"I move," said Senator Walsh, "that in view of the serious statements made touching the executive that any senator who has testified already may be recalled and interrogated in reference thereto."

"I am for that," said Senator Nelson, and members of the committee agreed.

Executive's Influence Certain.

Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, also a Republican, following Senator Townsend on the stand, expressed the opinion that "the executive had had more influence on bills than all the persons who have come to Washington put together."

The statement that the president put out in regard to an insidious lobby (Continued from Page Four).

HARMONY IS KEYNOTE OF THE MEETING

All Colorado Committee, Representing Springs, Pueblo and Denver, Formed

TO WORK FOR WHOLE STATE

Officers Elected Denver Will Aid in Novel Way All Sessions Here

Work for the development of Colorado by bringing all the different sections of the state into perfect harmony, instead of cross purposes, with each other, is to be the policy of the new "All Colorado Committee," the organization into which the committees from Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Denver formed themselves at a meeting at the Antlers hotel yesterday. The committee will not, according to the decision reached yesterday, inaugurate any extensive publicity or money-raising campaigns. "It will take up questions affecting the whole state, however, and not confine itself solely to the interests of the three cities."

To start the work, and as an evidence of Denver's good faith in the whole proceeding, the Denver branch of the committee has arranged for as much of the dead space on the Denver billboards as they want to use in this work. This announcement was made last night by George W. Martin, general agent of the Rock Island railroad, who was elected permanent chairman of the committee. The situation was explained to James A. Curran, manager in Denver for the Cusack company, and he at once offered to donate the dead space on more than 800 billboards to help further the work. The Smith-Brooks Printing company of Denver will donate all the posters necessary.

Secretaries to Select Matter.

The secretaries of the chambers of commerce of Denver and Colorado Springs, and of the Pueblo Commerce club, will decide what is to go on these billboards, but as the posters are to be displayed in Denver, none of the material will be about Denver. The three secretaries will consider the matter and will provide such reading matter for the posters as to bring the best possible results in advertising Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Trinidad, Canon City, Glenwood Springs, Grand Junction, Fort Collins, Greeley and all the other important Colorado towns and localities. The posters also will advertise the agricultural, horticultural, manufacturing and mining resources of the state. Similar advertising matter will be placed in many important display windows in Denver, and one page in each theater program in all the Denver theaters will be used in this work.

Martin last night characterized the formation of the All-Colorado committee as the biggest move that has been made in this state in a long time.

He said:

"Counting the large number of delegates to the two important meetings—those of the Knights Templar and the Turners—together with the regular summer tourist travel, we will have perhaps double the number of people in Colorado this season than were ever in the state in a similar period before. It is the intention of the All-Colorado committee to do all it can to help to promote such working arrangements between the three cities and the state as will enable us all to take advantage of the opportunity offered to Colorado in the great number of people who will (Continued on Page Two).

Washington maintaining a lobby to put the west on a leasehold basis," charged Governor Ammons in an address in which he attacked the general land policy of the federal government.

"The government owns our western resources, would go into a monopoly if it put under state control. They say we are not law abiding. I want to call your attention to the disgrace that happened when the women marched down Pennsylvania avenue in Washington. Why, gentlemen, such a disgrace as that which happened in our capital city would not have happened in the toughest mining camp of the toughest state in the west in the toughest day. Yet they say we are not law abiding. Great heavens, what do they call themselves?"

"If the government goes into business it should be on an equal basis with the men with whom it does business. Under the present reclamation projects, if the homesteader violates his contract he is liable into court, but if the government violates it and it often does the homesteader has no redress."

"For the purpose of this discussion, we may define conservation to mean prevention of waste and monopoly, to which all good citizens should agree. National conservation implies that this prevention of waste and monopoly and the control of our natural resources shall be under federal jurisdiction. Having had some years experience under this plan, it is proper to consider some of the objections to it as developed under its operation."

Hurt's State Taxation.

"The federal government, by its past policy, proposes to put both agriculture and grazing lands upon a royalty or leasehold basis, thereby withdrawing them permanently from taxation. Without the power of taxing its lands, the state governments cannot support themselves and no class of lands should have any advantage over any other class. If the federal government insists upon withholding land and resources from entry and makes them revenue-producing to the federal treasury, where such lands and resources should be placed upon the tax rolls, the same as other property. No other plan would be fair to the states."

"If it is to become the settled policy of this country for the government to go into business, it must be in competition and in contractual relation with the citizen."

Settlement Discouraged.

"Under the present policy of conservation, as it has been practiced, settlement of our lands has been discouraged and prevented. The prospectors, virtually driven from the field, the use of cheap water power practically denied to our cities and towns, development work of all kinds discouraged, the growth of our states hindered, and through the crippling of the taxing power, the usefulness of our educational institutions has been hampered."

"It is asserted that our troubles are merely a matter of administration; this is not true. The system is fundamentally wrong and the men who administered it cannot secure good results no matter how they try. The only way in which our western states can secure their equality with the older states is to have their lands given into private ownership and placed on the tax rolls, through more liberal distribution by the federal government or through cession of the public domain to the states in which it lies."

"SALT LAKE CITY, June 6.—"True conservation and how to accomplish it," was the subject of an address by Gov. William Spry of Utah before the conference of western governors here today. The governor expressed the opinion that the present conservation policy retarded the development of the western states and withheld from homesteaders lands which they should be allowed to file on."

"The movement for the conservation of natural resources of the nation which has been widely heralded and freely discussed has, raised a vital question of deepest importance to the people of the west—the most serious question in my opinion, that has presented itself in the history of the west—the public land question," said Governor Spry. "The most important point in connection with the national conservation policy is the handling of public lands. Our public domain is the cornerstone of every policy of conservation that may be launched and to a great extent every theory that has been given the dignity of a theory has involved primarily the handling of public lands."

To Prevent Gobbling.

"Recognizing a disposition on the part of certain great corporations to gobble up the timber lands, the national government, inaugurated the policy of withdrawing from public entry certain timber areas and setting them apart as timber reserves. Personally, I believe that the motive that inspired the conservation movement was an unselfish one. I believe that its true aim was to preserve as far as possible the public resources from waste and destruction."

"True conservation of natural resources, however, is the management and handling of the resources with the same degree of judgment that characterizes the successful head of a family or an institution. Conservation of natural resources involves the same question with which one must grapple in conserving human energy as in the ordinary affairs of life. Every man knows that waste means poverty; that idleness means stagnation, and that intelligent use and application means growth and development. So in the conservation of our natural resources, we must remember that first above all else we must grow and develop and that any policy that tends to curtail or destroy the opportunities for such advancement is unprogressive and ill calculated to bring to fruition the dreams of the founders of our republic."

OROZCO KILLED BY ZAPATISTAS; REFUSED RANSOM OF $20,000

MEXICO CITY, June 6.—Dismissing a ransom of $20,000 offered by the friends of Col. Pascual Orozco, Sr., father of the former rebel chief, Emilio Zapata has caused the old man to be put to death, according to a dispatch from Cuernavaca to El Empereador. The dispatch says Orozco's body was found by the federals at Tlachichilpa, near Jojutla, in central Mexico, hanging to a tree and riddled with bullets.

A commission of Orozco's friends recently went to Zapata and sought the freedom of Orozco. To these men Zapata said he would not sell justice; that if Orozco was found by a council of war to be innocent of aping, he would be freed, but that otherwise he would be condemned.

A petition requesting the removal of Vice Consul drafted at a meeting of the Empire day celebration committee today will be forwarded to Sir Edward Grey.

NORTHERN COLORADO COAL DEAL PROBABLE

30,000 Acres to Be Taken Over

by Belgian and French Capital—To Build Railroad

DENVER, June 6.—A gigantic coal deal, whereby 30,000 acres of the most valuable of the Routt county coal lands will be taken over by a combination of Belgium and Paris capitalists, and a railroad built from Hayden, Colo., to Casper, Wyo., reaching into the entire west and northwest market, will be consummated in Denver within a few days.

Plans for the huge venture have been completed and with the arrival of a party of the capitalists, including one member of the reigning house of Belgium, which sailed from Antwerp yesterday, the deal will be put through. Plans of the combination call for the immediate expenditure of $2,000,000 in Colorado and Wyoming. Denver will be the base of supplies and the project promises to be one of the greatest begun in Colorado in 25 years.

A. B. Eickelstaff of the Consolidated Securities company of Toronto, Canada, and Benjamin L. Dorsey, representing the European capitalists, have taken over the vast area of coal lands. The company has been formed and will be known as the Yampa Fuel & Iron company. Bonds for $2,000,000 will be floated on the continent.

Plans for the railroad, to be known as the Colorado & Northern Railway company, have been completed and as soon as the foreign capitalists have signified their approval immediate work will be commenced.

The road will extend from Hayden, on the Moffat road through the Routt county coal lands to Hahn's Peak, a copper and placer mining district. It will mean the opening up of the old copper mines and the revival of the placer mining industry in that section. It will then extend through the rich copper fields of the Battle Lake district to Walcott, Wyo., 106 miles. There it will intersect the main line of the Union Pacific railway, thereby furnishing transportation facilities for the coal east to Omaha and Council Bluffs, and as far west as Los Angeles.

From Walcott, the railroad will extend to Casper, Wyo., connecting with the Chicago & Northwestern lines and with the Burlington. By these connections facilities will be afforded to place Colorado coal in the northeast as far as St. Paul and Minneapolis, and Puget sound in the northwest. By the Hayden connection with the Moffat road, the company will be able to transport coal by way of Denver, into Kansas and Nebraska. With the completion of the line, the entire west and northwest will be turned into one huge market for Colorado products. The road will be 210 miles in length.

be with us. Undoubtedly the close cooperation of the three cities will result in our getting such benefits as would not be possible otherwise. In other words, we can locate more people as permanent settlers in Colorado, and interest and keep the crowds with us longer by working in this cooperative way."

United Support Promised.

"In Denver we have been promised the hearty support of all the daily papers, the commercial organizations and every influence in the city which makes for good. I feel sure we will get the same support from Colorado Springs and Pueblo. With such an influence from all three places behind the committee, there can be no doubt of the great good to be accomplished in this work for the constructive upbuilding of the state as a whole."

In the organization of the new committee, yesterday, Martin was elected permanent chairman, Ashbury White of Pueblo, vice chairman, and A. W. Henderson of Colorado Springs, secretary. The secretaries of the Colorado Springs and Denver chambers of commerce and of the Pueblo Commerce club had previously been made ex-officio members of the committee. The names thus added being A. W. Henderson of Colorado Springs, J. H. Jenkins of Pueblo and Thorndike Deland of Denver. Colorado Springs as the most central point, has been selected as the permanent meeting place of the committee, and the meetings will be held once a month. The next meeting will be Thursday, June 13.

The committee is considering the adoption of a Colorado trade mark based to a great extent on the one in use in Denver under the slogan, "Colorado, the Front Door of the Great West." It wants suggestions as to the working out of this design, but the general arrangement will be to have an architectural scene, show through the opening of the door, with Pikes Peak in the distance, a representation of the state house on one side, and one of the steel works at Pueblo on the other.

At the meeting yesterday there were present the following: J. H. Jenkins, secretary of the Pueblo Commerce club; A. W. Henderson, secretary of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce; E. W. Kent, J. A. Bufford and H. C. Crawford of Colorado Springs; G. W. Martin, Senator W. W. Booth and Finlay McFarland of Denver; Ashbury White, J. Will Johnson and F. J. Burch of Pueblo.

There have been several changes in the lineup of both squads, all of them for the best, the coaches and directors in charge point out, until today each club is willing to wager that it has a shade on its rival. Both teams will appear in spanking new uniforms, which the energetic and resourceful Ted Powell produced last night, when everybody thought they could not be finished in time, and the players are keyed up to the same high pitch of excitement that precedes a world's series.

W. Allen, the former St. Marks star, will be in the box for the El Paso club, with Dan Knowlton, Harvard on the receiving end. This pair forms a battery that will cause the Golf club athletes all kinds of trouble for both are stars in their respective departments. Opposing them, the Golf clubbers will introduce George Dickinson, slaban extraordinary, and O. R. Gillett, medicine man and all-around ball player, as backstop. T. B. Stewart and Billy Howbert, Yale athletes of different periods; Lew Carpenter, Trinity star in both football and base ball; Dan Casement, Bo Wheeler and Smith; Princeton men who earned their letters at Old Nassau in competition with Harvard, Yale and other big institutions, are some of the clever exponents of the national pastime who will be in the El Paso club lineup this afternoon.

DRASTIC ANTILOBBY BILL IS PROPOSED TO PREVENT INFLUENCE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator Crawford introduced today a bill to require registration of all persons discussing legislation before committees, to limit their appearance to regular sessions only, make it unlawful for any persons to attempt to influence any senator or representative individually, and make it unlawful also for any such persons, even if former members of congress, to appear upon the floor of either branch of congress.

It also would require corporations or others who had agents before committees to file a statement within 30 days after adjournment of each session showing their expense.

U. S. FACES DIFFICULTY

declared in his opinion the treaty would not cover it.

Senator Brewster offered a resolution modifying the treaty so that the tolls questions would be exempted specifically. Chairman Bacon asked the senate to vote against such a proposal, declaring that no distinction should be made between different nations, but such a reservation against Great Britain.

Senator Bacon pointed out that aside from the tolls question, the United States might find itself in controversy with Great Britain during the next five years which it would be glad to submit to The Hague.

United States Should Be Manly.
Senator Borah took the stand that if the United States was wrong in its attitude in the tolls matter it should take the "manly" stand and openly admit its mistake. Senator Newlands was against "compulsive" arbitration, but favored the "persuasive" sort.

Senator Weeks made the speech bringing in the Japanese question. The California senator defended the alien-land law of his state, and announced his disbelief in the soundness of interference with the acts of a sovereign state by the national government. He was opposed to treaties which would bind the states in matters of this sort.

It was pointed out at the conclusion of the session that if the arbitration agreements are not ratified the United States then would be bound only by the second Hague treaty, under which disputes relating to the interpretation of treaties or arising in other ways are not compelled to be, but can be settled in this fashion if the nations concerned are agreed. So far as both the tolls and Japanese disputes are concerned the United States could then submit them to The Hague or not, as it is seen fit.

Bryan Plan Not Binding.
Attention was directed also to the recently announced new plan of Secretary Bryan, which has progressed far enough to receive favorable first notice from several countries. This Bryan plan, in the opinion of many senators, would not prove binding at all in case of serious difficulty and might therefore not be subjected to the sharp criticism brought out today. If it is laid before the senate, the ratification of a treaty by the senate requires a two-thirds vote.

TIME IS THE TEST

The Testimony of Colorado Springs People Stands the Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time. Colorado Springs people appropriate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly indicted Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? Below is testimony such as the sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. Amanda Holmes, 410 S. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "I suffered from excesses and lameness through my hips and side and I had dull pains in my back. For several weeks I couldn't rest. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, and after trying them soon found relief. It wasn't long before I was cured and I have been well for three years. The testimonial I gave in August, 1911, still holds good."

LOVE FEAST ALMOST MISSED BY BRYAN

Baron Chinda, Japan, Geo. W. Guthrie and Secretary State Exchange Greetings

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—The Japanese ambassador to America, Viscount Chinda, and the new American ambassador to Japan, George W. Guthrie, to this city, shared the honors of a testimonial dinner to the latter tonight, arranged by "friends and neighbors," and Secretary of State William J. Bryan, whom it was planned formally would introduce the ambassador to each other, was so delayed that he arrived almost as the festivities ended.

Ambassador Guthrie, in expressing his appreciation of the demonstration in his honor, addressing himself to Viscount Chinda, said:

"Your excellency, what you see here will, I have no doubt, convince you that the American people, as a whole, intend to keep faith and desire to live in peace and friendship with the emperor, whom you are justly proud to represent, and the people to which you are justly proud to belong, as well as with all the other nations of the world."

To Practice Silence.
"We are a people who keep faith, and we wish to do justice. I am called to a station—I know not for how long—where I am to practice silence. In view of the message from the president, which the secretary of state will read to us, it is necessary for me to refrain from saying more than to assure your excellency that, unless I was in full and hearty accord with his policy, I would not be his representative in the mission to Japan, with which he has honored me."

Viscount Chinda, apologized for reading his speech, saying he feared the pitfalls of a foreign language. Viscount Chinda said:

"Allow me to express my profound appreciation of the privilege kindly accorded to me to assist at this brilliant function held in honor of his excellency, Mr. Guthrie, your new ambassador to the court of Tokyo. With your permission, I gladly make use of the opportunity thus afforded to me to say that both the United States and Japan are to be sincerely congratulated upon the appointment by which the important mission of representing this great republic in Japan has been placed in so able and distinguished a hand."

Especially great is my pride to think that I am the first of all my countrymen to extend to him the hearty and cordial greetings which are no doubt in abundant store for him in Japan. Gentlemen, the constant improvement in the means of communication and transportation constantly reducing the geographical distances which intervene between different parts of the world. The United States and Japan, separated as they are by the vast and unfathomable waters of the Pacific ocean, are now brought, and are destined to be brought, into closer contact with each other in all branches of peaceful activity."

Sees No War Scarce Whatever.
I do not deny that such contact is liable to give rise to occasional misunderstandings and complications, but I do deny the existence of the possible existence of any phase of those difficulties which would not eventually yield to due and timely processes of diplomatic treatment, the treatment of justice and fair play and of a sympathetic understanding of the problem of each nation by the other. It is this spirit that has so eminently characterized the American people, and also has invariably guided the course of our policy by the wise dealing with questions of international moment. It is in this spirit alone that those questions could be successfully adjusted to the true and lasting satisfaction of all parties. It should be the able endeavor of every patriotic man in both countries to direct his attention to an amicable solution on such basis of any problem that may confront us in our intercourse, and to transmit to our country the unimpaired record of our mutual good understanding bequeathed to us by our forefathers. That record forms part of our peace and national pride, and it should be preserved. It should be amplified and extended to all ages to come."

Our two nations, bound by such auspicious traditions and guided by the same aims and the same aspirations to contribute to the peacefulness of the world, should forever remain good and trusted neighbors. And I feel, gentlemen, that my humble task in this direction and ready cooperation and encouragement at the hands of your great president, as well as of your renowned secretary of state, Mr. Bryan, and your worthy representative to Japan, Mr. Guthrie, who honor us by their presence tonight."

I am sure that the expressions of friendship voiced by such distinguished leaders of American politics cannot fail to touch a responsive chord in the hearts of all thinking men on both sides of the Pacific.

Bryan Out of Breath.
Secretary Bryan was almost breathless when he entered the hall, and almost immediately into his speech from which he digressed after he had freed himself from the bonds of manuscript, to declare that he was not an advocate of interfering embassies, salaries, but I am in favor of purchasing bonds for them, because it is democratic and because we can fix their standard of living and make them live like Americans. He said as part.

Now here for a double purpose. First, to introduce two distinguished gentlemen. His excellency, Viscount Chinda, who, with such ability and distinction, represents Japan at the capital of our nation, and Ambassador Guthrie, to whom has been given the honor of representing the United States at Tokyo. My connection with the department having to do with foreign relations makes it appropriate that I should be present on the occasion when the representatives of the respective countries make each other's acquaintance. The second purpose of my visit is to pay my respects to and express my personal regards for the gentlemen who are entrusted with the honorable and responsible mission of representing the two countries so long and intimately united in the bonds of friendship. I have had opportunity to confer with the secretary of state with his excellency, the Japanese ambassador, which began nearly eight years ago in his faraway home. I feel that both his country and ours are fortunate in having in the diplomat who serves me so fully equipped for the duties that fall to an ambassador. While no one could surpass him in devotion to the interests of his countrymen, it would be equally impossible to surpass him in the courtesy and kindness of spirit which are so valuable in international affairs. He has set so high a standard that the president has been careful to select as our representative to Japan a man of the highest character, of large experience and sincerely appreciative of the greatness and the progressiveness of the country to which he goes.

I am sure that Mr. Guthrie will meet the most exacting requirements of his great office, and that the delightful occasion in which we participate tonight may be regarded as fittingly representing the amicable international relations which it will be the pleasure of these two gentlemen to maintain and strengthen.

Ambassador Guthrie sails from San Francisco July 15.

Attempt to Bribe Wood Juror; Expect Verdict This P. M.

BOSTON, June 6.—The jury in the dynamite "planting" conspiracy case which grew out of the Lawrence factory strike, was still deliberating at a late hour tonight on the question of the guilt of the three alleged conspirators—William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen company; Frederick M. Atteaux, a dye manufacturer; and Dennis J. Collins, a Cambridgeport tanner.

Just before court opened today, one of the jurors, Morris Shuman, told Judge Crosby that he had been approached last night with an offer of $200 and a life position if he would agree to vote as directed. It is said the man who approached him would not say for whom he was acting.

Shuman thought that he could identify the man and expressed the opinion that he could reach a decision on the evidence without being influenced by the alleged offer. He was allowed to enter the box with his eleven fellows.

Judge Crosby instructed the jurors to return a verdict of not guilty on the sixth count of the indictments, and to return separate verdicts on each of the other five counts. The counts, although referring to the "dynamite planting" in general, differ by detail.

At midnight, after the jury had been deliberating nine hours without result, Judge Crosby sent word that he would not receive a verdict until 6 o'clock tomorrow. He directed that should the jury arrive at a verdict in the meantime it must be sealed.

CANADIAN PAPER MAY BE TAXED

TARIFF MAKERS WOULD END MONOPOLY

Believe Paper Makers Would Be Benefited As Well As Consumers

WASHINGTON, June 6.—For several hours today the senate finance subcommittee, of which Senator Johnson of Maine is chairman, discussed the paper schedule of the Underwood tariff bill, and it is reported tonight that an amendment to put a retaliatory duty against Canada on print paper valued at more than 2 1/2 cents a pound is being seriously considered.

Because the majority of the subcommittee was inclined to this view, they summoned from New York John Norris, chairman of the paper committee of the American Newspaper Publishers association, who today reiterated opposition to the imposition of any countervailing duty.

No decision was reached, but it was learned from an authoritative source that the matter hangs in the balance, with the leaning toward putting in the countervailing duty. In the Underwood bill, retaliatory duties are imposed on higher grade papers valued at more than 2 1/2 cents a pound. The import tax is fixed at 12 per cent ad valorem, and the countervailing duty is directed against Canada because of restrictions on pulp woods and pligs.

The proposed tariff on American paper manufacturers is that the added tax be extended to print paper.

Print Paper Now on Free List.
Print paper in the Underwood bill is on the free list, and the amendment being considered would provide "that if any country, dependency, province or other subdivision of government shall impose any export duty except license fee or other charge of any kind whatsoever, whether in the form of additional charge or license fee or otherwise, upon printing paper, wood pulp or wood for use in the manufacture of print paper, there shall be imposed upon print paper when imported either directly or indirectly from such country, dependency, province or other subdivision of government, a duty equal to the amount of such export duty or other export charge imposed by such country, etc., upon printing paper, wood pulp or wood for use in the manufacture of print paper."

In his argument before the subcommittee, Mr. Norris, in addition to reiterating his argument against any countervailing duty, called attention to a proposal of American paper manufacturers to establish a system of operating their mills only five days a week instead of six.

This, he argued, was another effort to curtail the American output of print paper.

The consumption of paper has been growing steadily. Mr. Norris said in his brief, that the rate of 30,000 tons per annum or 300 tons per day, but in the year 1911 not a single paper machine was built by the manufacturers in the United States.

"In the month of March, 1911, at the time they were appealing to your committee for relief, their reports to the bureau of corporations showed that they were restricting their output below normal capacity to the extent of 150,000 tons per annum, or 15 per cent. They were aggravating that restriction by the exportation of 45,750 tons of news print paper in the fiscal year of 1911. Any unusual condition arising during the year, such as a strike, or fire, drought, or blizzard, or shortage of raw or congested of traffic would have precipitated a situation similar to that in the fall of 1907 and the spring of 1908, when a paper panic cost publishers approximately $10,000,000."

Efforts to Force Up Tariff.
The paper makers inaugurated a campaign to deter investment in new mills, and when they failed to stop construction in any other way they attacked the credit of the projectors of those new mills, and urged banks to refuse loans to the new enterprises."

Mr. Norris contended that every measure the United States had directed against the Canadian provinces had forced against the American paper maker and consumer, that instead of composing the situation, they provoked an ugly complication which will require years of intelligent and delicate handling to adjust.

Canadian Wood Needed.
"Nothing can be done," he argued, "by compulsion or tariff threats to provide wood for the American paper industry. That day has passed. Canada controls the pulp wood supply. Its authorities insist that they be dealt with upon a reasonable basis."

Senator Johnson's proposed amendment to the tariff bill, which would put an increased graduated tax on tobacco and its manufactures in accordance with a plan submitted by Attorney General McReynolds, it was reported tonight, may not be accepted by the finance committee. The feeling expressed is that such legislation should not be made a part of the tariff bill, and that it should be given prolonged consideration. It also was said among the senators that the plan had not yet had the approval of the administration.

CHICAGO HAS SUDDEN DROP FROM HOT TO COLD

CHICAGO, June 6.—A sudden change in the direction of the wind sent the mercury down nearly 40 degrees within an hour tonight.

The day had been the hottest of the year, the thermometer reaching 91 degrees at 2:30 p. m. There was a strong south wind and several were overcome.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the wind swung into the north, and the mercury fell to 50 degrees at 11 p. m.

Windsor, Ont., is now recognized as one of the most rapidly growing cities of Canada.

PRESIDENT WILSON

Influenced the public mind," said Senator Weeks, "and that has its effect upon the senators. The public believes a lobbyist is a bad man and no senator likes to oppose a measure if the president says the lobbyists are seeking to change it."

Senator Shively, a Democratic member of the finance committee, said he knew of no lobbying influences at work on the tariff.

The senate agreed to extend the time limit for the lobby investigation 20 days, or until June 28. The new element injected into it today probably will carry the questioning of senators over into next week. Features of the so-called lobbies on sugar, wool and metals and liquor, labor and other legislation must then be taken up as the second stage of the investigation.

No Improper Methods.
Senator Townsend's statements in relation to President Wilson were not in the form of charges. He expressly said he did not charge the president with using improper methods; but he insisted that the charges that lobbies existed, and the activity of the president in support of free wool and free sugar amounted to an "undue influence," even though he did not use the "big stick" of patronage.

"As the term 'lobbyist' is generally understood," he said, "and as I believe it was used by the president in his recent statement, upon which this investigation was founded, it means one who tries to secure or prevent legislation by the use of means that are improper; by the offer or payment of money, the granting or withholding of favors, by insidious threats of political opposition, by the use of patronage or the division of political rewards. I know of no improper lobbyist of that kind. The nearest approach to undue influence exerted upon members of congress, I believe, is the influence exercised by the president and by the use and power of the party secret caucus."

"Do you mean to say that is lobbying?" demanded Senator Reed.

"A lobbyist is a man who attempts to influence legislation against the honest conviction, the conscience and the notions of duty of the legislator," returned Senator Townsend. "Because of the insinuation that a lobbyist exists to influence them to vote for amendments, they believe in, I think some senators will refrain from so voting. This is coercion."

"You believe there is a species of lobbying from the executive as well as from the outside?" asked Senator Cummins.

"Yes, sir. I have no doubt of it," replied Senator Townsend. "I do not blame the executive any more than any other. It seems to be rather popular nowadays."

Not Dishonest Practice.
"There are two sides to this question. The fact that a man is for protection is not an evidence that he is dishonest, or because he is for free trade, that he is honest."

"Democratic leaders have been reported as saying: 'This is to be a matter the president must decide, and in order to be a good Democrat and receive the proper amount of patronage, and not perhaps be exposed, you must support the party measure.'"

"Do you know any human being who can say as a matter of fact that President Wilson has either withheld or given appointments to affect the vote of any man in congress?" demanded Senator Reed.

"No, I do not. I only know what I have heard rumored and seen in papers," said Senator Townsend.

Senator Townsend said he had no substantial interests that might be affected by the tariff, and knew of no lobbies existing in Washington.

Senator Weeks testified he severed his connection with all his banking and commercial concerns when he was elected to the senate. He said three or four men called upon him, who might be called lobbyists. Among them were Thomas O. Marvin, secretary of the National Wool Manufacturers association.

"They were not promoting or opposing legislation, so he understood, but gathering information for members of the association who desired to receive it."

Senator Shively testified he had no personal knowledge of a lobby.

Senator Cummins said the flooding of senators with telegrams and letters was the only practice he had observed in Washington that was wrong and cost money.

Indian Attorneys Lobbyists.
"I favored free hides and opposed free lumber in 1905," he said. The operations of Indian attorneys in Washington in relation to claims and attorneys' contracts, he thought, came near to being of a lobbying character.

Senator Thomas said the anti-free sugar campaign of the beet sugar forces was the only one of an anonymous character, while the wool and other interests had worked openly, he said.

Thomas Sees Influence.
"What is the influence of the president of the United States or the cane sugar planters of Louisiana that induced the ways and means committee of the house to put off free sugar for three years?" asked Senator Cummins when Senator Thomas resumed the stand at the afternoon session.

"I think it was both," said Senator Thomas.

Senator Thomas believed the American and Hawaiian cane growers and the beet sugar makers were working jointly against free sugar, but he believed it was the facts presented by the Louisiana cane growers alone that induced the president and the house to put off free sugar until 1916.

Former Representative J. A. T. Hull of Iowa was subpoenaed to appear before the committee next week.

A man who threatens to close his factory or to create a panic if congress does this and so is a lobbyist of the worst character," declared Senator Kern of Indiana, at the night session.

"This does not apply, of course, to men who are sincere and honest in their presentation of their case," he added. The senator said he believed letters and telegrams which interested parties had sent to members of congress to falsely represent conditions in their home state was in the highest degree improper, and that a great deal of work had been done in

Warren Attacks Wilson.
Senator Warren of Wyoming endorsed the sentiments expressed earlier in the day by Senators Townsend and Weeks that effective influence had been exerted by President Wilson. "If the president has the right," said he, "to send for a senator and urge him to vote in a certain way, surely a senator has the same right to try to influence a fellow senator."

Senator Warren said he held $500,000 worth of stock in the Warren Live Stock company of Wyoming, which owns from 50,000 to 60,000 head of sheep.

He said he believed the president had gone further than he ought in influencing members of congress and had used excessive persuasion. Senator Warren declared his interest in sheep would not affect his vote on the tariff in any way and that he did not consider it necessary to refrain from voting on any schedule.

The committee adjourned until Monday. About a dozen senators are to be examined before the hearing of outsiders begins. The names of Charles E. Warren, president of the Michigan Beet Sugar company, and Alfred E. Ely of Washington, were added tonight to the list of witnesses.

A KANSAS INSTANCE
From the Kansas City Journal.
A western Kansas judge was impeached for drunkenness. On the trial he produced a cloud of witnesses, whose testimony, with variations, ran like this:
"You know Judge X?"
"Yes."
"Did you see him September 25 at 8:30 a. m.?"
"Yes."
"Well, wasn't he sober?"
"He was."
The defendant was acquitted. Much depends on what constitutes being drunk.

The Yankee Traveler, Who Will Lecture on the "Russian-Japanese War" Motion Pictures at the Grand Opera House, Tomorrow Evening.

VAUDEVILLE—RUSSIAN JAPANESE WAR IN MOTION PICTURES, GRAND OPERA HOUSE

The famous motion pictures of the great war between Japan and Russia, a few years ago, are to be exhibited at the Grand Opera House tonight only, Saturday, June 6. The announcement is one that should attract more than passing notice for the pictures represent actual scenes photographed on the battlefield in the course of this long struggle. The films were obtained at a great expense. Remarkable difficulty and more or less danger were encountered. One series of the pictures for instance shows thousands of Japanese soldiers charging up Nan Shan Hill. The scene is so realistic as to make you feel almost as an actual observer from the part taken by the moving picture operators. The Japanese soldiers, in the fight at 203 Meter Hill, carried on the battle of 58 hours without food, drink or sleep, thus showing the remarkable strength and endurance of the race. In one instance the Japanese tied sticks of dynamite around their bodies and charged up the hill to their death, that they might thus lead their countrymen on to victory. The war was one of the most terrible as well as the most spectacular ever fought, and attracted world-wide attention for months. A great variety of scenes in addition to those mentioned are also shown by these remarkable pictures. They include the more quiet, every day life of the Japanese, showing many of the things which seem strange to the people in this country and which have made Japan a place of much interest to travelers from all parts of the world. To add to the interest of these remarkable pictures they will be thoroughly explained by J. Earle Cunningham, the Yankee Traveler, who for comfort and convenience has with him a Japanese jinricksha or pull-man-car. This equipage may be seen in front of the Grand Opera House. Considering the agitation current over California's stand in the Japanese matter, even despite the effort of Mr. Bryan and President Wilson, everybody will want to learn as much as possible of the strength and standing of the Japanese army and navy and these pictures will certainly throw widespread light upon the subject. The management of the theater regrets they can procure these wonderful pictures for but one night. High-class vaudeville will be offered in conjunction with the motion pictures.

MR. BRYAN'S PEACE PLAN

THE response of the various nations to Mr. Bryan's plan for averting war must be decidedly gratifying to him and to the administration, and it ought to be gratifying, too, for everybody who longs for a way out of the present muddle of militarism which means every sober-thinking individual. Mr. Bryan's plan has been accepted in principle by six European nations—Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Sweden and Norway—by Japan, and by Brazil and Peru. They have, as Mr. Bryan says, "responded favorably, some endorsing the principle and asking that explanations be submitted in regard to the details, others replying that the proposition is received sympathetically and expressing a willingness to consider details."

The proposal, in brief, is for an international agreement whereby each nation binds itself to refer any dispute to an international commission, and to refrain from hostilities until an investigation is made and a report submitted; second, the investigation to be conducted as a matter of course upon the initiative of the commission, without the formality of a request from either party; third, the report to be submitted within a given time, to be agreed upon; fourth, the parties to reserve the right to act independently on the subject matter in dispute after the report is submitted.

If its practical application this plan would act as a powerful deterrent to nations about to go to war; indeed, it would make a hasty and ill-considered resort to arms impossible. It would prevent a declaration of war as the immediate result of some incident which momentarily inflamed public passion, as, for instance, the blowing up of the Maine. With this plan in operation fifteen years ago the Spanish-American war probably would not have occurred.

The cartoonists have been having a good deal of fun with Mr. Bryan because of his ultra-enthusiasm in the cause of international peace; but it is clear that he has entered the field just at the right moment to catch the ear of governments weary and exhausted with the burden of militarism. He may yet have the satisfaction of accomplishing something of real value in his chosen field.

COLORADO BUILDING STONE

A PUEBLO paper announces with great satisfaction that the government has decided to use Turkey Creek sandstone for the construction of a new postoffice at Ottawa, Kansas. The specifications called for another stone, but the supervising architect was persuaded to use the Turkey Creek stone as an experiment, with the understanding that if it is satisfactory it will be generally used in government contracts in the West.

It is strange that Colorado building stone has not sooner obtained wide recognition throughout the country, for several varieties of a very high grade are produced here. Within the last three or four years the Colorado Yule Marble Company has introduced its product in the East and its marble is now being used in the construction of a costly municipal building in Cleveland and in several other important buildings in eastern cities. The Yule marble is of exceptionally fine quality and since the deposits are apparently inexhaustible its production probably will become one of the great industries of the state.

There is enough stone in Colorado adapted to various commercial uses to supply the whole country for all time to come, and it is gratifying to note that it is gradually finding a market in the East. Pork barrel legislation results in the expenditure of many millions of dollars a year for government buildings, and if Colorado stone is adopted it will mean the development of an immense industry.

THE "DOPE" EVIL

IT IS gratifying to note that a drastic ordinance regulating the sale of habit-forming drugs has been prepared by the City Attorney and probably will be enacted by the Council. The proposed law, of course, makes cocaine, morphine and similar preparations saleable only on prescription. It forbids the refilling of prescriptions, provides for registration of the name of the purchaser and other information which shall be available to the police, and provides for a fine of from $50 to $200 or imprisonment of from thirty days to six months, or both, for violations.

Of course many of the "hipheads" will continue to get the stuff anyway, but they won't get it as easily and some of them won't get it at all. It probably would be impossible to devise a law to prevent the illegal sale of drugs entirely, just as it is impossible to devise one which will prevent the illegal sale of liquor. But a great deal can be accomplished by the strict enforcement of such a law as is proposed.

A CONFESSION

IT IS somewhat surprising to read Professor Taft's confession that the nation is "judiciously unprepared for war." True, military writers have been assuring us for years that the army is a mere joke and that the navy ought to be increased and overhauled generally. There is the best of reason for believing that the former President's assertion is strictly true, but at the same time it is a rather humiliating confession for him to make.

During the four years of the Taft administration Congress voted a total of $380,000,000 for the army and $517,000,000 for the navy, a total of nearly $900,000,000 for national defense. He took an active interest in the work for he had previously served as Secretary of War and understood the nation's military needs. Yet three months after leaving the White House he declares that we are "judiciously unprepared" for a fight. It is to some extent at least a confession of his own failure.

Controversial letters will not be published without the signature of the writer. Communications for this department should be limited to 400 words and should be free from personalities.]

"WELCOME PIRATES."
To the Editor of The Gazette:
We, the owners and drivers of automobile rent cars, along Pike's Peak avenue, and taxpayers of Colorado Springs, bid a fond welcome to our "pirate" competitors, who are now arriving from other points to spend three months in Colorado Springs and, incidentally, take their earnings back to spend in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and other states. It seems so unfair that we have to pay out our money here in Colorado Springs for taxes and groceries and have to spend all of our money here in the winter time while these outsiders are allowed to come here and participate in the cream of the season's business, leaving none of it for the benefit of the community in which it is produced.

And again it seems unfair that the City Council should ignore our petition for protection against these "pirates" of Colorado Springs, who are taking the stock of the country for the way they treat their tourist business. Let some of our Colorado Springs people go to Dallas, Texas, and start a tourist automobile. The next morning, after the police judge has assessed the fine and cost, he will inform you that it requires to be a taxpayer and six months' residence in Dallas to acquire your license with her scenic attractions and to do them justice, before you are fit to drive a tourist auto there.

Hope that some time we will get just protection, we remain,

FROM OTHER PANS
FANCY AND FACT AT NICARAGUA.
From the New York Tribune.
It may be an open question whether an inter-oceanic canal ever will or should be constructed at Nicaragua. A dozen years ago that route seemed to have some decided advantages over that at Panama. It still has the advantage of less distance between our two coasts. But it is doubtful if that is sufficient to counterbalance the fact that the Panama canal is now an accomplished fact.

But there can be no question as to the ownership, possession and management of such a canal, if ever it should be constructed. It must be an American canal under American control. That is fundamental and axiomatic.

SCIENTIFIC MARRIAGE

From the San Francisco Chronicle.
All the world loves a lover, but it will not do so very much longer if we are to accept the prediction of Professor R. M. Yerkes of Harvard. According to this eminent sociologist, all conquering science will shortly invade the matrimonial market and, by securing a corner in hearts, crush the competition of cupid. There is nothing novel about this prediction except that it is made by one whose high standing calls for more than the flippant comment with which it usually has been received.

whereby it may be secured, which is much the same thing. As one distinguished critic expresses it, "The trouble about eugenics is that they do not know the kind of man they want, and for all they know the superman of the future might be a 'G' controlled epileptic fed exclusively on goat's milk."

In "Mankind in the Making," H. G. Wells once since pointed out that all analogies drawn from the animal kingdom were worthless when applied to the breeding of men. Man knows what he wants when he sets out to breed strength or swiftness in a horse, or any other quality in any other animal and he is content to set it regardless of cost. It matters not if the draft horse is white or black, or the race horse bay or chestnut, but what is the quality in man so highly prized we would have it at the cost of all others?

WHAT PENNIES EARN THE GOVERNMENT

From the New York Evening Post.
Stamp books sold at one cent above the face value of the stamps they contain yielded a profit last year to the government of $100,000, says a Washington dispatch. An item like this somehow gives one a more vivid idea of the enormous magnitude of the postal business of the country than do the big figures relating to the gross volume of its operations. Here is a little corner of its affairs, hardly noticed alongside the rest, out of which the government makes the tidy profit of a sixth of a million dollars a year. And it furnishes, at that, a valuable convenience—a neat little book, with several leaves of oil-paper to protect the stamps—at the price of our smallest coin. If the whole of the selling price of the booklets were profit, the $100,000 would mean that 10,000,000 of these booklets were sold; as a matter of fact they cost the government about a quarter of a cent to make, so that in reality the number sold was 25,000,000, and the public paid last year $250,000 for these unconsidered trifles. In the year 1890, the whole amount received by the postoffice for carrying the mails of the country was just about this sum, being $250,000. In the fiscal year 1911, it was $257,000,000—nearly a thousand times as much.

REAL PROGRESSIVISM

From the Kansas City Star.
Colonel Roosevelt, Progressive, is going to take the stump to help Governor Sulzer, Democrat, set a primary bill at a special session of the New York legislature. That is the real spirit of the Progressive movement—service for the common good without regard to partisan advantage. The old way would have been for Colonel Roosevelt to fight the Sulzer bill as a "Democratic measure."

Too Busy to Be Healthy

BY RUTH CAMERON

A hard-working young business man was driven to his doctor by a bad case of indigestion. Instead of medicine the doctor prescribed a set of exercises to be taken five or six times a day. The business man took them six times the first day, three times the second, remembered them once or twice the next two days and then completely forgot them for the next ten.

At the end of that time he came back to the doctor's office with a more violent attack of his trouble. "Been taking your exercises?" asked the doctor. "I haven't been very regular," admitted the patient. "To tell the truth, doctor, I'm too busy to bother with those exercises. Can't you give me some kind of pills instead?"

"The doctor happened to be a very independent practitioner," Young man, he said, "you are just one of several hundred fools among my patients who are too busy to be healthy. If you want pills you can go elsewhere for them. I've given you the best medicine I know."

"Too busy to be healthy?" Over how many sick beds there might be written, "This patient was too busy to be healthy. He knew how many imbalances—if truth and common sense were not such utter strangers, these might be entrusted. He was too busy to keep his things."

Another strenuous young business man has had to give up a splendid position and take a complete rest for a year. It meant large loss of money and opportunity, but the doctor declared that the probable alternative would be lifelong invalidism. Twelve years ago when this man started upon his business career he was perfectly strong and healthy. Now what do you suppose has been the cause of this unhappy change? Simply that he was too busy to eat.

"Gold-diggers gobbled at his desk when he needed a hearty hot meal and prolonged fasts when he was too busy for even that cold bite, have been the order of the day for 12 years. What wonder that his stomach finally became too busy making trouble to have time to work for him?"

Woods Hutchinson says we all need at least three hours of outdoor exercise a day. I wonder how many of us are too busy to take it? Probably about nine out of ten.

Most of us need to drink more water than we do. We are just too ridiculously busy to remember to perform this perfectly natural act.

Remember, the man who is too busy to be healthy is also too busy to be happy, too busy to be a good companion and too busy to be as efficient as he should be.

Are you?

Modern Inventions COUNTRY CLUBS

By GEORGE FITCH

Author of "At Good Old 'Sidewash"

A country club is an institution invented for the purpose of letting city people get out into the country without bothering the farmers.

Country clubs are built for lovers of nature and contain all sorts of conveniences for enabling them to soak themselves in bucolic bliss including grill rooms, bars, golf courses, piano players and table d'hôte dinners. With the aid of these and other comforts a man can sit in the rathskellar of a country club and drink in the pure fresh air and other things until the last day of the year for the city people.

Invented for the purpose of letting city people get out into the country without disturbing the farmers.

Who have had a long course in country clubs become so familiar with the joys of life of the rural districts that they can distinguish between the two best and worst of things, a bull and a bull calf with the skill of an old agriculturist.

Country club members are divided roughly into two classes—those who sow golf balls on the hill sides and those who sow wild oats in the grill room. These crops are not noticed in the agricultural reports but they are quite extensive nevertheless. The man who sows $197 worth of golf balls in a 180-acre meadow, harvests a pair of brown forearms in the gentle autumn and the man who gives his earnest and undivided attention to the untamed oats crops, harvests the usual result but in a more stylish and exclusive manner, drawing a large and fashionable audience when the judge grants the decree.

Since the automobile has become prevalent in country clubs have increased enormously in numbers and the town which does not now possess one is looked upon with scorn, even by rural communities. To enjoy nature in a country club a member should not put on overalls and a straw hat as large as a city voting precinct. To do so would excite as much unfavorable comment as if he were to be caught milking a cow. White flannel suits and Paris clothes, together with a haughty and detached air, eked out when necessary with a monocle and cigarette, secure the best results in these delightful rural retreats and a long line of well-selected automobiles count for more on the country club circuit than the unpainted cattle on a thousand hills.

SENATOR A. B. CUMMINS, WHO FORCED LOBBY INVESTIGATION

Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa stole a march on the Democratic leadership of the upper chamber when he offered a resolution, following President Wilson's attack on the tariff lobby for an investigation of it. But Senator John W. Kern of Indiana, the Democratic leader, aside in time to the fact that such an investigation, naturally growing from the president's public statement, ought to come from the men of his party. Accordingly, Senator Cummins' resolution was changed considerably, and in that form it passed. Most of the Republicans voted for the Cummins resolution, while the Democrats voted for Senator Kern's.

In the Religious World WHAT THE CHURCH FOLK ARE THINKING ABOUT AND DOING

Sunday School Lesson and Young People's Topics

THE POTENTATE AS A MAN

The International Sunday School Lesson for June 8 is "Joseph Forgives His Brethren," Gen. 45:1-46:7.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

Everybody is first of all human. The personal relationships are the most important. Before a man is a public official, he is a son or husband or father or friend. Many a man who is weighed down with cares of state really has, as his first and deepest concern, the waywardness of a son, the illness of a dear one, or some like burden. The loneliness of the leader of men, the lack of personal sympathy and sweet fellowship which lesser men enjoy is one of the penalties of public service. Kipling has pictured this well in his "Song of Diego Valdez," who, because he was lord-high admiral of Spain, could no longer enjoy the liberty and pleasures of the comrades of his youth.

The floods of purely human emotion overwhelm Joseph, the great ruler of Egypt, in the present Sunday school lesson. He had tested his once-ruled brothers by many devices, and had found them changed men. All that the responsibilities and caution of his high office required of him he had done, and now he flings aside all robes of state, all duties, an exclamation, "Come, come, only a family homestead, my brothers, for the love of his own blood." The story is too fine to be marked by summarizing; here it is as the inspired narrative gives it.

The Great Reunion.

"And Israel took his journey with all that he had, and came to Beer-sheba, and offered sacrifices unto the God of his father Isaac. And God spake unto Israel in the visions of the night, and said, Jacob, Jacob. And he said, Here am I. And he said, I am God, the God of thy father: fear not to go down into Egypt: for I will there make of thee a great nation: I will go down with thee into Egypt, and I will also surely bring thee up again, and Joseph shall put his hand upon thine eyes. And Jacob rose up from Beer-sheba, and the sons of Israel carried Jacob their father, and their little ones, their wives, in the wagons which Pharaoh had sent to carry him, and they took their cattle, and their goods, which they had gotten in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt. Jacob, and all his seed with him, his sons and his sons' sons with him, his daughters, and his sons' daughters; and all his seed brought he with him into Egypt.

"And these are the names of the children of Israel who came into Egypt, Jacob and his sons. Reuben, Jacob's firstborn, and the sons of Reuben: Hanoch, and Pallu, and Hebron, and Carmi. And the sons of Simeon: Jemuel, and Jamin, and Oad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Chab, the son of a Canaanitish woman. And the sons of Levi: Gershom, Kohath, and Merari. And the sons of Judah: Er, and Onan, and Shelah, and Perez, and Zerah; but Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. And the sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul. And the sons of Issachar: Tola, and Phuah, and Job, and Shimron. And the sons of Zebulun: Sered, and Elon, and Jahiel. These are the sons of Leah, whom she bare unto Jacob in Paddan-aram, with the daughter Dinah. All the sons of his sons and his daughters were 34 and three. And the sons of Gad: Ziphion, and Haggi, and Shuni, and Ezbon, and Arodi, and Arel. And the sons of Asher: Imnah, and Ishah, and Jehu, and Beriah, and Serah, their sisters; and the sons of Dan: Hushim, their sister; and Malchiel. These are the sons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter; and these she bare unto Jacob, even 16 souls. The sons of Rachel, Jacob's wife: Joseph and Benjamin. And unto Joseph in the land of Egypt were born Manasseh and Ephraim, whom Asenath, the daughter of Poti-phera priest of On, bare unto him. And the sons of Benjamin: Bela and Becher, and Ashbel, and Gera, and Naaman, Ehi and Rethi, Muphim and Huphim, and Ard. These are the sons of Rachel, who were born to Jacob; all the souls were 14. And the sons of Dan: Hushim. And the

When the Past Becomes Plain.

When we look backward the providences of God become plain. The "why" of the experiences which once troubled us most is usually revealed by time. Disaster in the long run becomes triumph; adversity appears as trust prosperity; and our unwise prayers cause us to praise a wise Father who has led us by a way we know not. The providence in Joseph's tragic career was clear as the rub stood in the presence of the family whose life his was to preserve. Eve Joseph could not see the still greater purposes of God in bringing Israel into Egypt.

An anonymous little article, "Answered Prayer," is floating through the religious press, and it illustrates this phase of the day's lesson. "He asked for riches that he might achieve, he was made weak that he might obey."

"He asked for health that he might do greater things; he was given it first that he might do better things." "He asked for riches that he might achieve, he was made weak that he might obey."

"He asked for power that he might have praise of men; he was given weakness that he might feel the need of God."

"He asked for all things that he might enjoy life; he was given it that he might enjoy all things."

"He has received nothing that he asked for, all that he hoped for. His prayer was answered."

The Forgiven Offenders.

Sometimes we read that one of the distinctive doctrines of the Christian religion is its teaching concerning forgiveness. All of us who know it understand that there is ever needed forgiveness. Men wrong us; we wrong men. Hurts befall us along all the way. Misunderstandings are as common as existence itself. Fault and iniquity does untold deeds, unfed, hurtful deeds. Anybody might be tempted to self-pity if he were to recount the injustices he has suffered and that would be weak and wrong. A wholesome is it to recall all times we have wounded our brother and have had need of their forgiveness.

IN THE RELIGIOUS WORLD

Jesus has vanquished death and all its powers.

It is enough, earth's struggles soon shall cease
And Jesus call us to heaven's perfect peace

The art of getting along genially with all sorts of people is a fine one, and at its best one of the Christian graces. But it has its temptations, to insincerity, shallowness and fear of men. More fundamental and abiding and efficacious is the grace of being in right relations with God. At peace with God, harmonious relationship with all his creation naturally ensues. The whole world of nature seems at one with the soul which is aglow with the fellowship of God's love.

International peace, the "peace on earth," of the angel song, is possible only among "men of good will." Let us not deceive ourselves here. "We cannot legislate war out of existence. A modus vivendi and modus vivendi among the people alone can make peace real and enduring. The objective of peace propaganda should not be the parliaments of the nations, but the minds of the common people. The new diplomacy helps the commonality of mankind to understand one another. Nowadays it is the will of the people themselves that makes or prevents wars. Therefore, to help men to be brethren is to bring in that reign of peace on earth toward which the world has labored for millenniums.

"If religion has done nothing for your temper, it has done nothing for your soul," someone has wisely said. The heart of peace is the proof of the soul's faith.

Peace is sometimes to be fought for, as well as prayed for. That may seem paradoxical. But it is true. Spinelessness is in no wise a quality of peace. Lack of character, and cowardly conformity to essential evil, has never promoted lasting peace, although it has postponed the inevitable struggle until another man comes on the scene to face the issue. There have been holy wars. Resistance of oppression has been noble. Every battle for truth has served the cause of ultimate peace. In order of qualities truth must be put first, and peace second.

Peace must be in human hearts before it can be in the nation.

To have more of peace, seek more of Christ. "He is our peace."

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS

The mere lapse of years is not life, knowledge, truth, love, beauty, goodness, faith, alone can give vitality to the mechanism of existence.—Marcus Aurelius

God hath ordained that work alone brings peace.—Hilts

If I can ease one life the aching,
Or cool one pain,
Or help one fainting robin,
Unto his nest again,
I shall not live in vain.

True goodness is like the glowworm in this, that it shines most when no eyes except those of heaven are upon it.—Hare

The men who stand straightest in the presence of sin bow lowest in the presence of God.—F. B. Meyer

Learn that to love is the way to know.
Of God or man, it is not love received
That maketh man to know the inner life.

Of them that love him, his own love bestows.
Shall do it

Empty hours, empty hands, empty companions, empty words, empty hearts draw in evil spirits, as a vacuum draws in air.—William Arnot

NOW THE CITY UNIVERSITY

From the Independent
We have state universities and we are beginning to have city universities. Among our cities which have successfully conducted such universities or colleges are New York and Cincinnati. The city university is a new institution abroad as well as in this country. In England, such are the universities of London, Birmingham, Liverpool, Manchester, Leeds and five others and such are the new German universities at Hamburg and Frankfurt. The University of Leipzig is municipal and old. Our larger cities have universities already established by private benefaction within their own limits or close at hand, so that all that is needed to make them municipal is for the city to make an annual grant to the amount for the tuition of students living within their limits. Why should not Boston or New Haven or Chicago or Philadelphia pay the tuition of students at universities near at hand?
